

Your account – edit screen

Use edit to change your details.

You can use the Change password link if you think your password might be known by someone else.

In the edit screen you will be able to edit your Login, email address, user name; and change your preferred license for the material you contribute.

You can decide to allow other members to contact you by ticking the Allow emails box. Or you can change your mind about contact and untick the box.

A screenshot of the "Edit your details" form. The form has several sections: "Login:" with a text input field containing "JaneSS"; "Email:" with a text input field containing "somebody@somewhere.com"; "User Name:" with a text input field containing "Jane"; "Allow Emails from other users:" with an unchecked checkbox; and "Preferred License:" with four radio button options, each with a Creative Commons license icon and text. The "Save" button at the bottom left is circled in red. Below the "Save" button is a link for "Change Password".
